Hurricane lanterns with bell-shaped glass globes from Coldwater Creek set a nostalgic mood. ## Taking It to the Mat

Made from the same woven vinyl-coated polyester material used on lawn furniture, the new Mat collection from Chilworth has the good looks of wool with all the durability and easy care of polyurethane. At home or in enclosed porch or on a covered patio (no wind slippage when wet), these mats are available in sizes in 2-by-1, 4-by-4, and 4-by-6-foot sizes, and in patterns of 2-by-2 and 2-by-3 feet. With some eight-color flecked and six more muted colors in stripes, stripes and dots, and a common Ararat, Breeze, and Bark, there's one to suit just about any outdoor decking scheme. ## Sun Block

The Sapientia characterizes the Sancti as being "in the world, but not of the world." They are "not of the world" because they are not "of the flesh, of the blood, nor of the will of man, but of the Father" (John 1:13). They are "in the world" because they are "in the world" to "redeem the world" (John 1:9).

Resilient flooring—durable, forgiving, easy to install and maintain—has long been lauded for its practicality, but not always for its looks. Indeed, it's been called the flooring industry's equivalent of orthopedic shoes: easy on the feet, if not on the eyes. "A lot of people associate it with the drab, gray stuff that covered up their hardwood floors," says TOH show host Steve Thomas. These days, they'd be wrong. From venerable linoleum to top-selling vinyl to vanguard versions of cork, rubber, and leather, today's "soft" flooring comes in an amazing array of colors, patterns, and sizes. Yet these newer resilient flooring materials remain as affordable, simple to care for, robust, and useful as their hardy forerunners—they just look a whole lot better doing it.

Exhibitors Bring Out-of-the-Ordinary Designs to New York Gift Fair

By Jennifer White and Crystal Honores

NEW YORK The thought of being a good-looking floor covering isn't even mentioned as a possibility, but with flooring exhibiting at the New York Gift Fair, the thought is being put to rest. The fair, which runs from September 14-16, is the largest of its kind in the Northeast, and it's the only one of its kind in the Northeast.

That's just one of the many things that make the fair a must-see for anyone in the home furnishings industry. The fair is the only one of its kind in the Northeast, and it's the only one of its kind in the Northeast.

Exhibitors at the fair are bringing out-of-the-ordinary designs to the fair. The fair is the only one of its kind in the Northeast, and it's the only one of its kind in the Northeast.

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem. This involves identifying the symptoms of the problem and determining the scope of the problem. This involves identifying the factors that are contributing to the problem and determining the underlying causes. Once the causes have been identified, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This involves identifying the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem and determining the resources that will be needed to implement the plan. Once a plan of action has been developed, the next step is to implement the plan. This involves carrying out the steps that have been identified in the plan and monitoring the progress of the implementation. Finally, the last step in the process is to evaluate the results of the implementation. This involves determining whether the problem has been solved and whether the resources have been used effectively.
